REASON FOR TODAY'S CALL:
 Bathroom: Shower head leaking, tenant tightened without success.

DESCRIPTION OF WORK PERFORMED:
 The shower head is a handheld with spray hose. It was leaking where it connects to the shower arm. I removed the shower head, added Teflon tape to the threads of the shower arm, and reinstalled the head. The leaking has stopped.

TECHNICIAN RECOMMENDATIONS:
 The nut that attaches the handheld shower to the shower arm is plastic and these have a tendency to crack over time. While I do not see any signs of cracking now, if this connection begins to leak again the future it may need replacing with a higher quality version of this handheld shower that comes with a metal securing nut.
