REASON FOR TODAY'S CALL:

Hot water in kitchen faucet has gone down to a trickle after the shut-off valve was closed. Aerator is free of debris, and cold water pressure is just fine at the same faucet. Also, I have a slow draining bathtub that could probably use some snaking.

DESCRIPTION OF WORK PERFORMED:

-I repaired the Hot & Cold shut off valves under the kitchen sink by replacing the washers, stems, packing, packing nuts, and handles. After repairing the valves I flushed debris out of the kitchen faucet hot supply line, the pressure was still low. I then removed the cartridge and tried to flush debris out that way but was unsuccessful. Unfortunately I could not remove all debris and the faucet will have to be replaced. -I used the PowerSpin drain snake to clean the tub drain and tested by filling the tub half way and draining.
