REASON FOR TODAY'S CALL:
Water damage to hardwood flooring around kitchen island.

DESCRIPTION OF WORK PERFORMED:
The connection between the kitchen faucet spray head and spray hose was loose, allowing water to run through the faucet, under the counter, behind the backboard of the cabinet, eventually finding its way to the concrete and pooling under the hardwood. I tightened this loose connection and tested by removing the kick board to view under the cabinet, filling the sink half way and draining, and running the dishwasher through a short fill and drain cycle. Other than the loose faucet connection which has now been resolved, there is no sign of other leaking.
