REASON FOR TODAY'S CALL:
 Kitchen sink faucet hose is torn and needs to be replaced. The actual facet itself seems to be working fine, it's just the rubber tubing inside the facet itself. I've patched the tear with some plumbing tape for now.

DESCRIPTION OF WORK PERFORMED:
 -I used the PowerSpin drain snake to clear the tub drain. I removed hair and bits of hard clear plastic. I suggested purchasing a stainless steal mesh screen that fits in the top of the drain to mitigate the chances of debris flowing down through the drain. -I installed the customer supplied kitchen faucet spray hose replacement. During testing I noticed the spray head was cracked. I suggested calling American Standard and having them send out a new head.
