REASON FOR TODAY'S CALL:
Low pressure in lavatory faucet

DESCRIPTION OF WORK PERFORMED:

I removed the faucet spout and found that the original installer unfortunately connected the spout to the adaptor in such a way that it is now seized on. I cleared debris from the inlet as best I could and reinstalled. At first the faucet seemed to be functioning normally but during testing went back to low pressure and sporadic spray and then again back to normal. I removed the spout again and cleaned out the spout inlet as best I could, reinstalled and tested again. The faucet seems fine sometimes and other times the flow is sporadic. Unfortunately because of how the original installer connected the spout to the adaptor I cannot remove it to replace the pressure regulator inside. If the issue continues to be a problem for the tenant we may have to contact Dornbracht and order a new spout.
